

APPLICATION FORM SUMMER INSTITUTE IN PAPHROLOGY 2020 UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI

Personal information

Name

Preferred mailing address

Preferred e-mail address

Preferred telephone number (should have voicemail)

Citizenship

If not, please specify country and applicable residency status.

Education

Degrees

Include all degrees earned, the awarding institution, and the date of award.

Knowledge of ancient Greek

PhD students: Please indicate the number of years of study, level of study, courses taken, authors read, if not clear from course names, and degree of proficiency.

Post-doctoral applicants: Please summarize your training and indicate Greek courses authors taught and level (undergraduate or graduate).

Other ancient and modern languages
Indicate years of study and level of proficiency.

Latin

Coptic

German

French

Italian

Others

If English is not your native language, please indicate your English-language ability.

What other courses in ancient studies have you taken or taught?

Have you had previous training in papyrology? If so please describe it

For PhD students only:

What doctoral qualifying exams (oral or written) have you passed, and when did you pass them?

What is the focus of your dissertation?

Who is your dissertation director?

For post-doctoral candidates only:

Title of dissertation, date of defense, name of dissertation director

List any pertinent awards and publications

Personal statement

What do you expect to gain from participation in this summer institute?
You may attach a separate sheet, but please limit your response to one page.

Names and e-mail addresses of referees

For PhD students: one of the referees should be the dissertation director or principal advisor.

1.

2.

The applicant must arrange to have two letters of recommendation sent directly by the referee to the address below. Letters for PhD students should address language proficiency.

This form and any attachments should be sent to peter.vanminnen@uc.edu.

The deadline for all application materials is 5:00pm (EST), 31 January 2020.